- 6) The winning team of the NJ State Avian Bowl will have the chance to compete in the National Avian Bowl to be held in Kentucky in November. Participants will be responsible for trip costs. Members may fundraiser or ask for sponsorships to cover costs.

Types of Questions

- Regular Questions
  - These questions are asked in the form of a fill in the blank (short answer), multiple choice, or spelling questions. In the case of a spelling question, the player may retrace what they have already said but cannot change their answer after it being spoken.
- Bonus Questions
  - These questions are awarded once a team gives four correct answers. At which point the bonus question will be asked only to the team that receives it. Bonus questions are longer questions that have several parts to their answer. Only one bonus question is asked per team per game.
- Tie Breaker Questions
  - In the case of a tied score, 5 additional questions will be prepared and asked to attempt to break the tie. In the case of a tied score again, 5 more questions will be selected.

Point System

- Regular Questions, award 5 points
- Incorrect Answers and Acknowledgement Penalties, deduct 5 points.
- Bonus Questions, award 10 points.
- Tie Breaker Questions, award 5 points each

Game Mechanics

- The order of teams is determined by picking numbers out of a hat, with one (1) being the first to go and the highest number being the last to go.
- In the event an odd number of teams register, a "bye" will be awarded, as necessary, in order to allow all teams to participate

- The game is played as a double elimination tournament style. A team that loses any two games is out. The game is over when there is only one team left with less than two games lost.
- When the question is called out, players must be quick to hit the buzzer when they have an answer. The moderator will then acknowledge the person who rang the buzzer first. Only after being acknowledged can the contestant answer the question. If the question is not answered within five seconds or is answered incorrectly, the other team can then hit the buzzer to answer the question (but are not required to). The question will not be repeated to the other team.
- In the case that no one hits the buzzer within ten seconds, the question is skipped.
- In the case that someone calls out the answer before getting acknowledged and/or is not the first person to hit the buzzer, that team will lose five points.
- In the case that someone hits the buzzer before the question is completely asked, the moderator will stop reading the question and will allow the person who hit the buzzer to answer. If the answer is wrong, the question will then be repeated to the other team.
- If the moderator does not feel that the answer provided is specific enough, they will ask for the person to be more specific. Only in cases where the buzzer is hit before the question is finished will the moderator not be able to ask the person to be more specific.
- Bonus Questions: When a team gets four correct answers, a bonus question will be asked to them. After the question is asked, the team has ten seconds to discuss the answer. After those ten seconds, the team captain has five seconds to start answering the question. Once started, the team captain has 30 seconds to complete the answer. In the case of the question having more than one part, for example a four-part answer, only the first four parts spoken are accepted and no others.
- Only answers found in the Avian Bowl Manual will be accepted.
- The number of questions asked per round will be stated before the tournament begins.
